DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

The amendment and written response filed 08/06/2009 has been entered and considered.

Claim 49 has been added.

Claims 1-49 are pending.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 08/06/2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

35 U.S.C. 101 rejection:

Applicant argues claim 1 is compliant with the 35 U.S.C. 101 because it is a transformation claim. Applicant states claim 1 satisfies the transformation requirement of "a visual depiction that represents specific physical objects or substances" in Bilski because "a bitmap is a well-know digital data file structure for visually depicting physical objects". Upon further consideration, the examiner respectfully disagrees as follows: first to satisfy the transformation requirement, the underlying subject matter must be a meaningful and significant modification to qualifying data or signals and subsequent depiction of the modified data or signal as an external (non-pure-data) representation of the physical object or substance, such as but not limited to a visual depiction. The examiner notes the subject matter in claim 1 fails to indicate that the bitmap object is a representation of a physical object because the bitmap object can simply be a virtual/imaginary object created by a computer. Additionally, claim 1 fails to include any meaningful or significant modification to the bitmap object because drawing on a computer is not an image transformation since no data/signal has been transformed from one state to another. The examiner further notes claim 1 is not inherently tied to a particular machine because the significant steps a), b) and c) can all be done within a person's head when he looks at the claimed bitmap object on a computer display. Thus a particular machine/device must be included in claim 1 to overcome the 101 rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as not falling within one of the four statutory categories of invention. Supreme Court precedent¹ and recent Federal Circuit decisions² indicate that a statutory “process” under 35 U.S.C. 101 must (1) be tied to another statutory category (such as a particular apparatus), or (2) transform underlying subject matter (such as an article or material) to a different state or thing. While the instant claim(s) recite a series of steps or acts to be performed, the claim(s) neither transform underlying subject matter nor positively tie to another statutory category that accomplishes the claimed method steps, and therefore do not qualify as a statutory process. See explanation above.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 10-48 are allowed.

¹ Diamond v. Diehr, 450 U.S. 175, 184 (1981); Parker v. Flook, 437 U.S. 584, 588 n.9 (1978); Gottschalk v. Benson, 409 U.S. 63, 70 (1972); Cochrane v. Deener, 94 U.S. 780, 787-88 (1876).

² In re Bilski, 88 USPQ2d 1385 (Fed. Cir. 2008).

Claim 49 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
